FMEC Welcomes Medical Student, Resident to Board of Trustees

DAYTON, OHIO – The Family Medicine Education Consortium (FMEC) is committed to incorporating the ideas and opinions of physicians in training and future healthcare leaders, and as such added two new positions, a resident member and a student member, to the FMEC Board of Trustees in 2023.

Nearly 20 residents and students applied, and the quality of the candidates was incredible. The FMEC Executive Committee felt the strong interest in the FMEC, that family medicine is healthy and that future family physicians are motivated to strengthen the profession. The FMEC thanks all those who expressed interest.

The FMEC Board of Trustees welcomed two new FMEC Board of Trustees members: Taylor Rider, DO, MS, Resident Member, UPMC Williamsport Family Medicine Residency, Williamsport, PA; and Hannah Clarke, MPH, Medical Student Member, Case Western Reserve University, Cleveland, OH. They will serve terms through October 2024, with the option to serve again.

About the Family Medicine Education Consortium

The FMEC is a catalyst, convener, and incubator that connects family physicians and other stakeholders to improve the health communities by strengthening family medicine, primary care and medical education. The FMEC serves 14 states and the District of Columbia in the northeast region of the U.S., working with 60 medical school departments of family medicine, over 200 family medicine residency programs, and thousands of family physicians and other health care providers in community settings. Through an Annual Meeting for nearly 1,000 health professionals, annual awards, learning communities, and quality improvement projects, the FMEC inspires medical students to seek careers in family medicine, strengthens academic family medicine through faculty development and leadership experiences, and stimulates innovative approaches to primary care service delivery.
